

The Book of Acts - Andrea DeCook

Icebreaker:

1. What ice cream flavor sums up your personality today?
2. What book would you like to live in?

Summary:

Acts 10 reveals that God shatters human-made boundaries by extending the Holy Spirit to all people, regardless of background, culture, or status. As followers of Jesus, we are called to tear up our own lists of who's "in" or "out" and join the Spirit in welcoming all into God's family.

Small Group Questions:

- How has your background shaped the way you see who's "in" and who's "out" in the faith?
- What "lists" do you think Christians (or you personally) struggle with the most today? What would it look like to surrender those?
- What person, group, or category do you find yourself avoiding or judging—even subconsciously? How might the Spirit be nudging you toward them instead of away from them?
- How can our church (or small group) practically "make room" for people we might not expect to belong?
- What's one "list" or boundary you want to let go of this week—and what's one step you'll take to cross a line in love?
